

Addressing Modes

When ever an instruction executes it requires operands to operated on. ~~operator~~ Operand mean the data and op code means operation to be performed on this operand. There are different method of getting access to the operand. These method are called as the addressing modes.

Different type of addressing modes are as follows.

1) Direct Addressing mode